You will have a minimum of five years' specialist experience in supporting children with a range of SEND particularly those with speech or language disorders. You will be passionate about helping school aged children with special needs to reach their potential.

In return, you will enjoy a competitive salary, excellent training and development, effective supervision, a generous annual leave allowance and a contributory pension scheme. This is wonderful opportunity to be part of a great professional community and the opportunity to support children and their families in understanding their needs and accessing the relevant educational support.
